

I feel that the cross-ownership ban is especially important in times like these. With the government constantly making life or death decisions, it is most important that dissent is allowed in the media. And when the same corporations are allowed to control so much of the media, regulations must be set in place in order to make sure that dissent stays alive. So, please don't let corporations muffle the people's voice. Keep the cross-ownership ban in place.